Revolutionizing Mosaics!

TAMPA, FL. (July 30, 2007) –Once used exclusively in industrial and architectural applications, stainless steel is increasing in popularity as an in-home design element. It is an attractive alternative to more traditional materials, providing many benefits, especially in kitchen and bathroom designs.

The new Metal Series™ from Diamond Tech Tiles proves just how beautiful metal tiles can be. “We wanted something that was both clean and geometric but with a good sense of design,” says Rita LeVine, Diamond Tech Tiles Marketing Director. The new Metal Series™ provides all of this and more.

Fashionable attractive, this 10 SKU line consists of a 7 mm porcelain tile body wrapped in 1mm of stainless steel, creating an elegant, stylish and contemporary look. Use it as a stand-alone product or combine it with other Diamond Tech tile products. The brushed surface reflects light and giving a bright look to any room.

Use the Metal Series™ on interior walls in both residential and commercial environments.

We invite you to take a moment to check out the new Metal Series. We believe you will love it and as with all Diamond Tech products, “they’re a luxury within reach!”
