Diamond Tech Introduce a Savvy New Site

Diamond Tech Tiles introduces a new website with better navigation and new features.

“Diamond Tech is committed to being more accessible” said Rita LeVine, Diamond Tech's Marketing Director. “Reconstruction of our website is a key part of that commitment.”

The site – www.DTTiles.com has a new, more useable navigation system and an improved look and feel.

Importantly, we have included buttons in the top navigation that allows site viewers to locate information they need more quickly and easily. Product sections feature an image rollover, giving them an enhanced view of the product for which they are searching. A click on the image provides product descriptions and specs.

Technical page improvements provide not only installation information on all of our product lines but also Q&A and warranty info as well. And, of course, our Dealer Search instantly allows access to professionals willing to help them find the product they need at any time.

New to the site are the Press Release and Marketing Collateral sections, Ms. Levine said. “This should provide a better understanding of who we are and what Diamond Tech Tiles has to offer.”

We invite each of you to take a moment to check out the new site. We believe the new design and format aims to be more informative and enable anyone interested in our products to gain more help and support from us online.
